Dear General Allen:

Thank you very much for a most interesting and comprehensive review of the projects operated under your responsibility on 5 September. It is extremely useful to my work in Washington to have received first-hand insight into these very important programs. I also appreciate your having come up to Sunnyvale for the session.

While the hardware is most impressive. I think it is also important to recognize the exceptionally high quality of the personnel of your organization who operate these vital national programs.

Faithfully,

Vernon A. Walters

Dear [redacted]

Thank you very much for a most interesting and comprehensive review of all the projects under your responsibility on 5 September. It is invaluable to my work in Washington to have received a first-hand impression of the extremely high quality work being done on these vital projects and to meet the managers who are responsible for their achievement. It all adds up to a strong note of reassurance.

Thank you also for your hospitality at lunch. It was a very worthwhile day all around.

Faithfully,

Vernon A. Walters
